A car accelerates from rest at a green light, then slows and stops at a red light. It sits for a while and then accelerates to constant speed. Which of the four graphs below best illustrates this scenario?